

The Child Safety Protocol: Street Team Kit

Thank you so much for your support and for helping spread this important framework to parents who need it most. Your willingness to share and build momentum means the world as we work together to protect the next generation. The campaign officially launches on Monday, July 20, 2026 at 12 noon, Eastern.

If you're reading this and want to help make a real difference:

- Share strategically: Pick the option that best fits your audience and network.
- Personalize: Add your own authentic voice or experience when posting.
- Timing: Post during peak engagement times for your platforms (evenings/weekends often work well).
- Engage: Follow up on comments, answer questions, and amplify others who share.
- Track & Report: If you have time, shoot me a link, or let me know how it performs or tag me so I can engage too.
- Multi-channel: Share across platforms for maximum reach.
- Call to action: Encourage your network to not just like but back the project and share further. Every share, backer, and conversation counts toward getting this protocol into more families' hands.

Here are three ready-to-use example posts tailored for different audiences. Feel free to copy, tweak, and personalize them with your own voice and experiences: the more authentic, the better. Share them wherever your network is most active and help us get this framework into the hands of parents who need it most.

Post 1: The "Systems/Tech" Angle (Best for LinkedIn, X, or Threads)

Most child safety advice is built for a world that no longer exists. My friend Aiman, a systems and cybersecurity engineer with 20+ years of experience just launched a Kickstarter for his book, The Child Safety Protocol. Instead of vague warnings and fear, it's a clinical, blueprint-level manual to harden your family's environment against modern exploitation, online and beyond.

The manuscript is finished. Check out the campaign, and back the project here: <https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/aimana/the-child-safety-protocol/>

Post 2: The "Pragmatic Parent" Angle (Best for Facebook or Instagram)

If you are tired of parenting advice that boils down to "just talk to your kids" or relying on basic parental control apps that don't work, take a look at this. A friend of mine, Aiman, just launched a Kickstarter for The Child Safety Protocol. It treats family safety like an engineering problem: building layered, structural boundaries around gaming, messaging, and AI platforms before a system failure happens.

The book is fully written and ready for print. Let's help get this into the hands of parents who need it: <https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/aimana/the-child-safety-protocol/>

Post 3: Short & High-Signal (Best for txt, Slack/Discord/Teams, or WhatsApp group)

Hey everyone my friend Aiman just went live with his Kickstarter for The Child Safety Protocol: Online and Beyond. He's a veteran cybersecurity engineer who built a literal defense-in-depth framework for parents to protect their kids from digital manipulation. The manuscript is done, he just needs help funding the print run. Check it out: <https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/aimana/the-child-safety-protocol/>
